

Dear children,

I hope you liked the story of me turning my cat different colours with my magic wand!

You have your own special magic wand in your classroom. Some people call it a paintbrush but I think it is magic, as it helps colours change, by mixing them with other colours.

I wonder if you can help me to create some new colours to turn my cat?

I would like you to use your magic paintbrush to mix yellow and red together. When you have done this, please can you paint my cat's face with this colour?

Then, I think you should try mixing red and blue together and paint my cat's tail in this colour.

I would like you to experiment with your magic paintbrush and see what other colours you can create.

Have fun!
